- Orders should be placed at least 3-4 weeks before expected delivery date (remember to include time for your flooring to acclimate to your environment - see bottom of page for details).
- A deposit is required on all orders. For your convenience we accept all major credit cards. Balance is due in full upon delivery.

Storage and Acclimation

- The flooring should be allowed to acclimate to the site conditions a minimum of 10 days before installation.
- However, do not bring it in too early. All sheetrocking or plastering and painting should be done and thoroughly dry or the moisture will migrate to the lumber.
- We supply the stickers needed to allow proper air circulation around the boards.
- It is critical that the lumber is stored in the space it will be used. Do not store in a garage, basement or other unconditioned space.

The Vermont Hardwoods Story

Vermont Hardwoods was founded in 1979 as an outlet of quality hardwoods for local craftsmen. As demand dictated, value added services were implemented. We are currently in our fourth location as our growth has generated the need for more space. Our current 30,000 SF facility has fully weathertight storage and a temperature and humidity controlled shop with two Weinig moulders and all the supporting equipment.

For the past fifteen years the focus has been on the high end wholesale picture framing market so we know what is important not only in specifications and tolerance but also in responding to changing needs on tight schedules. Now Vermont Hardwoods has teamed up with The Flooring Mill to introduce flooring at a level of quality not normally found in the construction industry.

Roger and David have been involved with Vermont Hardwoods almost since its inception, and took over as owners in 1988. Their differing strengths play well into the two main roles of a manufacturing environment, production and administration. We feel that you will notice the advantage of having the ownership heavily integrated into the daily operations.

With a large warehouse, modern equipment and people who care about their customers, we guarantee that you will be satisfied with every aspect of your dealings with The Flooring Mill at Vermont Hardwoods.

Thank You!

Wide White Pine

White Pine makes unique and beautiful flooring as well as paneling. Our wood is native New England timber from local sawmills. Each board is hand selected and milled with a square edge for traditional face nailing. Tongue and Groove is available as an option. Our pine has lots of natural character with beautiful red knots.

White pine will be one of the most natural materials to put in the low traffic rooms in your log home, timber frame or anywhere you want a cozy, rustic feel.

On special order we can supply Barn Style Hit-or-miss with random circular saw marks, as well as Red Pine Siding for you barn or other outbuildings.

Wood Information

Ash - predominant grain, but lighter than Oak.

Birch - mostly light with red heartwood.

Cherry - a rich, warm addition to any room.

Maple - one of the hardest woods available, has light sapwood and some brown heartwood.

Oak, Red - strong grain and russet color lend a reassuring touch to any room.

Oak, White - actually more brown than white, and takes a stain very well.

Hickory - bold light/brown mix with nice texture.

Walnut - it's rich brown color is ideal for a den or family room.

Hardwood

Solid full thickness flooring has been used in New England for hundreds of years. The ¾" thick random width hardwood planks our flooring is made from provide you with the finest flooring available.

Hardwood is more than a name, it is a description of the properties of these woods. This is why they have been used for decades in areas such as gymnasiums. As such, you will find their wear characteristic superior to many other woods and synthetics. They have stood the test of time.

Pick your Grade

Country is ideal for the log home or timber frame house. The right mixture of tight knots, color variation and other visually interesting character fit right in this rustic setting.

Select may be more at home in a farmhouse or colonial. The subtler character of a clear floor but with color variation lends the perfect touch for a more traditional look.

Prime is everything suggested by the name. For the most elegant and formal of rooms you don't want anything to detract from the rest of the decor. There will be natural color variation from board to board, but only the predominant color of the wood (light for light woods and dark for dark woods) will be present.
